BLACK BELT FLOOD.

Two Thousand Negroes Were Drowned.

NO ACCURATE RECORD KEPT.

The Bodies Are Buried in Pits as Fast as Found—The Rest of the Population Dying of Starvation—Woe of Condition of Affairs on the Sea Islands.

SAVANNAH, Sept. 4.—S. Friedling of the wholesale grocery firm of S. Guckenheimer & Son has returned from Beaufort on a special tug. Mr. Friedling said that at least 800 persons were drowned in that vicinity, and that when all reports are in upward of 1,500 will be found to have perished. Up to the time of his leaving the coroner had held an inquest on 300 bodies, 37 of which were buried in one pit and 50 in another. It is impossible to procure confirmations.

The aggregate loss at Beaufort will exceed $500,000. The phosphate industry near Beaufort has been ruined and the crops on the sea islands are a complete loss. Unless immediate relief comes the suffering will be indescribable.

Attempt at identification of bodies has been abandoned. All that is desired now is to get the bodies out of the way as quickly as possible to prevent epidemics resulting from their rapid decomposition.

No accurate record is kept of the number of dead, and the statistics of the disaster will never be fully known. On each island and on the mainland the survivors are burying all the remains of the victims that can be found.

Coroner's certificates are out of the question. Searching parties make their way around the plantations and homes, and as soon as a body is found it is put under the ground. Whenever whites are with these parties, some sort of record is kept, but the greater number of burials are made by negroes.

The black belt on the coast has lost not less than 1,000 of its population, with a probability that it is twice that number. It will be a week before all the dead are found, and there is so much water on the islands, beneath which there are undoubtedly many bodies. The sea, too, is slowly casting up its dead. The sufferings of negroes, who constitute 99 per cent of the unfortunate, are almost undecipherable, and several days must yet pass before their necessities can be relieved.

The menace to health from the decomposition of human and other bodies, scattered all over the islands, makes the situation worse. Not a vestige is left of houses and farm buildings, all having floated away. Whole settlements were swept away; families are all gone. All boats and floats and means of getting from point to point are gone, and except when an occasional foot traveler comes to town, there is no getting any authentic or minute description of what has happened in remote places.

DYING FROM STARVATION.

A Terrible Condition of Affairs Reported to the Governor.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 4.—Phosphate Inspector Jones has arrived here from Beaufort by the governor's orders. His report shows that previous reports have only guessed at the great loss of life on the islands. He believes that the number of dead will go away above 1,000 persons. Following is a summary of what he says:

"There is danger of a water famine all over the islands, and even in Beaufort county all the wells and cisterns are filled with salt water. The people were killed by houses falling on them and drowning. Only Paris and Lady's Islands have been heard from with any show of certainty.

"At Cain's Neck, Coosaw and Pacific 42 coffins were used, and 93 persons buried. The bodies are being found in a decomposed condition. They are being mutilated by crows, and are very offensive. They have not begun to find even a portion of the bodies. Some of them are swept far up in the marshes where man can not go. At Cain's Neck there are deer, cows, hogs, snakes and all kinds of wild animals piled up together, making the section so offensive that no one can go there.

"There are not enough provisions to last these people a week. They are dying from starvation. While in Beaufort Sunday noon the wind was so strong that it blew me across the street. I had a terrible struggle to get around back of a fence, and clinging to it, got into a house on the highest point on the bluff, where I remained until 4 a. m. The water was 10 feet deep in the town. You couldn't hear your own ears for the roar of the winds. The damage in the town of Beaufort will not be less than $250,000.

"It is not money the people want as much as provisions and clothing. Their needs are immediate. Lots of persons had to tie themselves to trees in order to keep from being swept away. The people are like maniacs, crying for bread. Some of them have no nothing but shirts."

Railroad Men Strike.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Sept. 4.—At six o'clock yesterday evening the Louisville and Nashville employees of all classes except the telegraph operators in this city, struck. It is said the order to strike originated here, but the most diligent inquiries failed to reveal the source.

Sunday at the World's Fair.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—The fair yesterday was only one in name, offering little attraction. The number of paying visitors was small, being chiefly confined to the fine arts palace and the Midway.

DRIVEN TO DEATH.

Dr. Thacher Graves Commits Suicide in His Cell.

DENVER, Sept. 4.—Dr. Thacher Graves, the convicted poisoner of Mrs. Josephine Barnaby, committed suicide in his cell at the county jail Saturday night, presumably by taking poison. He was found stiff and cold in death at 9 a. m. Sunday by the "trusties" who have been caring for him. On his person was found 10 letters. One was as follows:

DENVER, Aug. 9, 1893

To the Coroner of Denver:

DEAR SIR—Please don't hold an autopsy on my remains. The cause of my death may be rendered as follows: Died from persecution. Worn out. Exhausted. Yours respectfully, DR. THACHER GRAVES.

The corpse was quite cold when found. No direct evidence of suicide was visible, but the above letter tells the story. There were also letters to Mrs. Graves, wife of the doctor, to Jailor Crews and an address to the public.

That the prisoner had long contemplated taking his own life is evident from the date of the letter—Aug. 9 last.

Another letter was addressed to Captain Crews the jailor. It was dated Aug. 29, 1893 and read as follows:

It would keep a man busy to follow Stevens and answer the lies which he unblushingly peddles out to the papers. One or two, however, need attention, and they are easily proven to be lies. I was a member of the Massachusetts State Medical society, also Connecticut State Medical society. I never made a proposition to the Rhode Island State Medical society for admission. My lawyers have the full reports, showing that I neither wronged the estate of Mrs. Barnaby, and that the estate now owes me, outside of the legacy by will. I can not expend more money fighting Stevens. I must take the only means to prove it for my wife and dear, honored, aged mother. T. THACHER GRAVES.

As well known Dr. Graves was awaiting his second trial for the murder of Mrs. Josephine Barnaby, of Providence, who, at the time of her death was visiting friends in Denver. She died April 19, 1891. On April 9 she drank from a bottle of whisky that had come by mail from Boston and that was labelled "Wish you a happy New Year; please accept this fine old whisky from your friends in the woods."

The whisky contained a solution of arsenic. Dr. Graves was accused of sending the bottle. After one of the most famous trials in the criminal annals of this country, Dr. Graves was convicted of murder in the first degree and was sentenced to be hanged. The supreme court granted him a new trial which was to have begun the latter part of this month.

"It's a clear case of suicide," said Coroner Chivington, while sitting in the cell of the dead man yesterday. Deputy Warden Shire nodded, and the coroner opened a letter addressed to him by the doctor. It was dated August 9, and after requesting that no autopsy be held, informed the coroner that he could find the cause of his death, as follows:

"Died from persecution, worn out and exhausted."

The letter was found with half a dozen others addressed to various persons in a bundle of manuscript under the doctor's satchel, which stood near the head of his cot.

One of the letters was addressed to John W. Bridges, the "trusty," who discovered the doctor dead in his cell.

A thorough search of the cell had been made before the letters were brought to light. A pile of books and magazines that stood on the little table were examined and his clothing was searched but nothing was found that would explain matters until the satchel was lifted aside and the letters found under it.

The doctor left everything in order before he died. When he was found he was clad in his trousers and a dress shirt. He lay on his right side in a posture he usually assumed after retiring. There was a slight froth on his lips, which might just as easily have come from natural causes as from poison. There was paper sacks of fresh peaches and pears on his table, the gift of his wife on her late visit Saturday.

Captain Crews, the jailer, was the last person to see Mr. Graves alive, according to the statements made to the coroner. He passed the cell at 2 o'clock in the morning and then the unfortunate man appeared to be all right. For some time past, however, he has been looking pale, but he did not complain of being ill. About a week ago Dr. Dulin, the county physician, remarked his paleness and asked him if he did not think that a little iron would do him good.

He replied: "To the dogs with physic."

Among other letters left by the doctor was one directed to his wife, a very lengthy one and another addressed to the public. The coroner refuses to make the contents of the letter known until Mrs. Graves has read it. Just now the lady is too much prostrated to be seen.

Ex-District Attorney Stevens is preparing a statement bearing on the case. A postmortem examination will also be held on the remains and the exact cause of death ascertained.

Was Determined to Die, and Did.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 4.—Nellie Dorris, a mulatto girl, aged 20, who escaped from the workhouse a year ago, was recognized by an officer on the street. He attempted to arrest her. The girl fled and attempted to commit suicide by throwing herself in front of a moving cable train. She was not badly hurt. The officer arrested her and took her to the stationhouse. There the girl attempted to end her life. She swallowed a quantity of pins and thrust a large pin through her throat, and hanged herself from a bar on the door of her cell. She was cut down before life was extinct, but died shortly afterward.

A TRAIN HELD UP.

The Express Messenger Shot and Killed.

EVERY PASSENGER ROBBED.

The Crime Occurred on the St. Louis and San Francisco Road at Mound Valley, Kansas—The Outlaws Did Not Secure Anything From the Express Car and After Robbing the Passengers Made Their Escape.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Sept. 4.—About 4 o'clock Sunday morning the eastbound passenger train on the St. Louis and San Francisco road, in charge of Conductor Mills, was held up by highwaymen at Mound Valley, Kan., a flag station, a short distance east of Oswego, Kan. Express Messenger Chapman shot and killed and every passenger robbed of their valuables.

The train had stopped to take on a passenger. As the train was ready to move, two men, armed with Winchester, sprang from the platform onto the tender and ordered the engineer to pull out until told to stop. The engineer obeyed. It was at this point that the messenger, C. A. Chapman, was killed. One of the highwaymen looked around the side of the car and saw the messenger standing in the door of his car. The robber fired and the messenger fell out of the car. When the train had gone about two miles the engineer was ordered to stop and the engine crew were locked in the baggage car with the baggage.

The robbers first entered the express car, but found the safe locked, the key being in the pocket of the messenger. They tried and battered the lock, but could not open the safe. Time being valuable to them the three robbers then entered the smoker, two in front and one in the rear. The robbers in front ordered all hands up, which command was emphasized by the man in the rear telling everybody to sit still. The colored porter was the first man robbed. The leader of the gang was unmasked and the other two wore handkerchiefs over their faces.

After the passengers in the smoker had been relieved of their valuables the robbers went back to the first chair car, where the same program was carried out. In the meantime a porter had made his way back to the second chair car and informed Conductor Mills of the stoppage. The conductor went into the sleeper and locked the door. Chief of Police Cone of Wichita was in the sleeper, and started to give battle to the robbers, but was dissuaded by the conductor, who told him the robbers were well armed and desperate men, and the loss of life would be too great. The officer and the porter then posted themselves at the door of the sleeper with pistols. The second chair car was the last one visited by the robbers. It was searched in the same system and manner as the other two.

The robbers then unlocked the baggage car and told the engineer he could go on. The trainmen began looking for the missing messenger. It was not until the train pulled back to the depot that the body of Messenger Chapman was found. It was in the weeds a short distance from the track. He was quite dead, a Winchester bullet having crashed through the back of his head. Chapman's body was taken to his home in Joplin, Mo. He was 24 years old, and recently married. The robbers occupied only 15 minutes, and half an hour's time was consumed in all before the train again got under way.

The sheriff at Oswego has two parties in pursuit. It is thought that the robbers have gone toward the Indian Territory. The three men were young, well-dressed, cool in their work and evidently old hands at it. Officers of the road have had warning of this raid and have been expecting it for a month. Vigorous pursuit of the desperadoes is already on foot.

RAILROAD WRECK.

Two Men Killed and a Dozen Others Injured.

STREATOR, Ill., Sept. 4.—A terrible wreck occurred in the outskirts of this city, resulting in the death of two unknown men and serious injuries to a dozen other persons. The killed are: two unknown men, supposed to be tramps, pinned under the wreckage.

At about 9:30 p. m. the regular freight and accommodation train which left this city over the Illinois Valley and northern branch of the Burlington went through a bridge and the cars of the heavy freight, together with the car containing the passengers, were piled up at the bottom of a 25-foot ravine. The wreck took fire from a stove. The uninjured trainmen succeeded in putting out the flames but not until several of the passengers had been severely burned.

A relief train was at once sent from this city and everything done for the victims. The two men who were killed were pinned beneath the wreck and their bodies not recovered until daylight. The injured were all brought to this city and placed in the hospital.

One Duel Enough For M. Drumont.

PARIS, Sept. 4.—The wounds inflicted by M. Drumont upon M. Dreyfus in the recent duel prove not to be serious enough to prevent the reappearance of M. Dreyfus upon the field of honor. M. Drumont refuses, however, to meet his adversary again.

The Third Brother to Hang Himself.

GOSHEN, Ind., Sept. 4.—James Roy, a farmer living near the Haw Patch, committed suicide by hanging. He is the last of three brothers to meet death in the same way.

GATHERING OF VETERANS.

Indianapolis Thronged With Visitors to the G. A. R. Encampment.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 4.—Every arriving train is loaded down with straggling contingents of the Grand Army of the Republic from one state or another, and the sidewalks of the principal streets are thronged with the wearers of the blue.

General Carnahan, who is grand marshal of the parade, figured that he will have over 50,000 veterans in line.

There was an unusual scene at the Tabernacle Presbyterian church. A special patriotic service had been arranged for the delegates to the convention of naval veterans, over one hundred of whom, headed by Rear Admiral E. S. Osborn, occupied seats in the body of the edifice, flanked on either side by a delegation of the Mary A. Logan cadets of Columbus, O.

An incident of the service was the pronouncing by Rev. J. A. Rondthaler, the pastor, of an invocation upon a silken American flag which had been presented by several comrades to Wallace Foster of this city. The audience lingered after the benediction had been pronounced, and several of the old salts in the rear pushed to the front and grasped ex-President Harrison by the hand.

Seeing that an impromptu reception could not be avoided, the pastor invited Mr. Harrison to the front of the platform and for over an hour, men, women and children filed by, each taking him by the hand, and many expressing in a few words their pleasure at seeing him among them.

WOMAN SUFFRAGIST IN KANSAS.

A Campaign Begun That Will Last For Over a Year.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 4.—The woman's suffrage convention has started a campaign that is to rack the state continually until the constitutional amendment is voted upon in the fall of 1894, with speeches by Susan B. Anthony, Helen Gougar, Mrs. Lease, Anna L. Dignes, Mrs. Emma Devoe, Mrs. St. John and others. The following is in part the platform adopted on which the long suffrage battle is to be fought:

"We take it to be that the determined policy of the Kansas Equal Suffrage association is to confine the work for the amendment strictly to arguments and propaganda for the enfranchisement of women. It is not expected nor will it be asked for the women of the several parties that they should cease their active and zealous work for their respective parties, yet we most emphatically state that all speakers and workers, under the auspices of the amendment campaign committee shall refrain from argument for, or reference to their party issues."

"All political parties of the state shall be and are hereby asked to embody in their county and state platforms expressions favoring the adoption of unequivocal suffrage planks."

NEW SWINDLE ON FARMERS.

An Ingenious Trick Perpetrated by Sharps on Indiana Grangers.

ELWOOD, Ind., Sept. 4.—A new swindle is being perpetrated on the farmers in this vicinity. A well-dressed fellow stops at a well-to-do farmer's and informs him that he is agent for a patent wagon tongue and is selling county rights. He exhibits the tongues and tells him that he has made a big thing out of it and is on his way home with only this county to sell. He offers to sell it dirt cheap and only asks $250. He usually leaves and tells the farmer that if he concludes to take it to write him, and leaving his address departs.

In a few days swindler No. 2 comes along and calls on the farmer, telling him he has heard that he owned the right for his county, and as he has been in the business and knows what it is, he wants to buy the right of him, and offers him $400 for it. After some haggling, the farmer takes him up and the fellow pays $10 down to bind the bargain, agreeing to pay the remainder when the transfer is made. The farmer, seeing $150 profit in sight, sends his note to swindler No. 1 for $250, and expects to get the county right and turn it over to his purchaser. He never hears from either one again, but his note comes up for collection in due season, and he is out of pocket just $240.

RIOT IN MEXICO.

Five Men Killed and Several Others Badly Injured.

JARAL, Mex., Sept. 4.—The town of Patos, about 50 miles south of here, was the scene of a riot, which resulted in the killing of five men. Saturday afternoon a celebration was being given at the old bull ring, which was attended by a large crowd of people.

One of the features of the program was a cocking main. In one of the fights between the two cocks a dispute took place as to whether it was conducted fairly and the trouble soon spread into a general riot. The men killed were stabbed to death. Several others were wounded. The disturbance was quelled by the authorities and a number of the leaders of the riot have been arrested.

Terrible If True.

BUDA PESTH, Sept. 4.—A terrible tragedy has occurred in a village near here. A young man at a ball, exasperated because his attentions to a young lady had been slighted, imagined that if he inherited his father's large estate, he would be an acceptable suitor. Accordingly, he returned to his father's house and killed his parents, who were in bed asleep, with a hatchet. He then murdered his six young brothers and sisters. Then he returned to the ball and danced the remainder of the night. The next day he was arrested upon suspicion. He confessed the crime after two days.

WORK OF CONGRESS.

Probable Program in Both Senate and House.

SILVER DEBATE IN THE SENATE.

Mr. Voorhees Will Press a Vote on the Repeal Bill and Will Probably Be Successful—The House Will Probably Adopt a Code of Rules and Adjourn for the Week—Committee Work.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The senate shows no disposition to shirk the responsibility placed upon it by the house to pass the bill to repeal the purchasing clause of the Sherman silver law. Mr. Voorhees has given frequent notice that he will press the repeal bill at all times until it is disposed of.

It is expected that Mr. Hale's proposition, that the senate meet at 11 o'clock daily, will be accepted, and thus, gently and gradually, but firmly, the pressure will be brought to bear upon the silver men who hold out in the fight against repeal. If they are disposed to talk from this out they will be allowed to do so, but whenever there is an intermission Senator Voorhees will probably be found persuasively suggesting a vote on some amendment, and all the time seeking to bring the question to a final vote, the favorable issue of which he does not appear to doubt.

Formal announcement of speeches to be made have been given by Senators Cullom, Stewart and Mills, the first for today, Mr. Stewart for Tuesday, and Mr. Mills for Wednesday. It is probable also that Senator Mitchell of Oregon will address the senate on the silver question before the week expires.

The house, instead of adopting the code of rule recommended by the committee on rules in one session, as it was expected would be done, spent the whole of last week after Monday, in debating upon the committee's report without coming to any conclusion thereon.

Much of the opposition to the rules was purely fictitious, and was aroused with the belief that, while thus engaged, the house would at least be saved from doing any damage, or anything which it or the country might regret. As there was nothing immediate demanding attention, it was felt that the members could make haste slowly, and the full and free, if not discursive, discussions of the propositions of the committee and the amendments offered by others was not antagonized.

But a week having been thus spent the leaders of the house are now, it is believed, satisfied that all has been granted in the way of debate that is necessary or desirable and will make an effort to secure final action on the report on Wednesday, the day to which the house has adjourned. Should they be successful in this, the intention is to give Thursday to the introduction of bills and adjourn from that date until Monday of next week. In case of failure to carry out this program there are no plans for the week, but the progress of events will depend upon the developments from day to day which no man can foresee.

COMMITTEE WORK.

Ways and Means Preparing a Tariff Bill Election Contest.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The committee on ways and means will at once begin a series of hearings it has consented to conduct preparatory to its work of preparing a tariff bill. The first person to be heard is Representative M. D. Harter of Ohio and his purpose in taking advantage of the opportunity offered by the committee is entirely consistent with his well known and frequently expressed views upon the subject. "I am going to talk to the committee," he said, "about two articles, agricultural implements and flour, which I think ought to be placed on the free list, or at least, included within reciprocity treaties that we make. There is no more reason," continued Mr. Harter, "why there should be duty on those things than that there should be on wheat." And then recollecting himself, "but we have one on wheat." Leaving the reporter to fill in the blank made by the withdrawal of the cereal from his sentence.

The committee on elections will take up the Belknap-Richardson case from Michigan at its meeting Friday. This case presents unusual features and will require, or it is supposed, receive, unusual treatment. Mr. Richardson received a certificate of election from the canvassing board, but later the supreme court of the state directed a certificate issued to Mr. Belknap. Though the claimants thus had a prima facie right to the seat, and the usual formalities preliminary to a contest before the committee were omitted, Richardson's name was placed on the roll, and Belknap trusted to the efficiency of his certificate, backed by the supreme court. When the committee meets Friday it is expected that Mr. Belknap will be given permission to institute a contest and prosecute it as if it had been initiated in accordance with the law governing such matters. A decision of the controversy under these conditions can hardly be expected within a period of several months at the earliest.

Died a Hero's Death.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 4.—E. H. Rumel, late chief engineer of the Milwaukee Lake Shore and Western railroad, was killed near Parrish, Wis. He was on the rear of a train which was backing, and seeing a child about 3 years old on the track unconscious of its danger, he heroically jumped and threw it aside. This act of heroism cost him his life, for he fell and in an instant was under the wheels, sustaining injuries which resulted in death in a short time.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For Kentucky, fair till Tuesday night; slightly warmer; variable winds, becoming south.

DR. J. C. KILGOUR was called to Harrison, O., Saturday, to see a former patient of his who formerly lived at New Richmond.

Mrs. BRIDGET BECKLEY, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jobert, of Ludlow, Ky., last Friday, and was buried Saturday morning at that place, was a sister of Mr. William Fitzgerald, of Limestone street. Messrs. William and Dennis Fitzgerald, of this city, attended the funeral.

GEO. F. AYERS, of Covington, is at Washington City trying to get authority to run a still at the World's Fair. Under the law a distiller must own the land on which his still is located before he can engage in the manufacture of whisky. Mr. Lindsay will endeavor to introduce a bill authorizing the Treasury Department to accept a bond in lieu of ownership of the land. Mr. Ayers' object in running the still at the Fair is to let the foreigners see how Kentucky whisky is manufactured.

CAPTAIN W. J. WASH, the popular Roadmaster, of the K. C. R. R., has resigned his position, effective September 1st, to accept a more lucrative one under E. Randolph, General Superintendent and Chief Engineer of the N. N. and M. V. Railroad. Before entering upon his new duties he will visit relatives in Richmond, Va., and also take in the World's Fair. Captain Wash has been identified with the K. C. R. R. for the past twelve or fifteen years, and a host of friends regret to see him leave, but are glad to hear of his promotion.

CANDIDATES for the position of postmaster in Danville have been made a little uncomfortable by the announcement that Miss Nannie Barbee, who has been considered out of the race on account of bad health, would make formal application and ask friends to work for her appointment. Being a lovable woman, and a close friend as well as distant relative of Vice President Stevenson, her chances are considered remarkably good. Her determination to make the fight, following so closely upon the visit made her recently by the Vice President's daughters, is significant.

THE City Council, of Winchester, has determined, under the new charter for fourth-class cities, to have the city officers chosen by the council instead of by direct vote. One reason for this is the fact that the negro voters outnumber the whites in this, as in many other cities in the Bluegrass region. The salary of the Mayor is fixed at $250 per year. Chief of Police $900 and 5 per cent. of the taxes collected, City Clerk $150, City Assessor $900, City Treasurer $25, Police Judge and City Attorney $2 each for cases tried. Members of the City Council $3 for each meeting of the Board.

TONY WALKER, the accused murderer of little Eddy Adams, near Vanceburg, makes another confession, in which he states that he confessed to the killing in the first place under the fear of immediate death. He says on the Tuesday following the killing John Adams and George Stevenson took him out into a field, dug a hole in the ground and said they would kill him and throw him into it if he did not say he killed Eddy. They raised a hoe over his head and under the fear of instant death he made the confession that has already been published. He says he never killed Eddy. The latter, in fooling with the pistol, shot himself.—Portsmouth Tribune.

COOK & WHITNEY's circus showed at Martin's Ferry, O., the other afternoon and several minor events of the day came to a climax about 4 o'clock in a shooting affray which may cost the life of Officer George Murphy and was a very close call for Marshal Westwood as well. A row occurred between some young men of the town and some showmen on the switch where the show cars were standing. When the officers attempted to arrest William Wilson, an employee of the show, he drew a .38-calibre revolver and sent a bullet through the Marshal's hat. A second shot struck Officer Murphy in the breast. The excitement was at fever heat, and so much talk of lynching Wilson was indulged in that he was spirited away to the county seat. The manager of the show fearing more trouble gave no exhibition that evening.

A SPECIAL from Higginsport, O., says: "Late last Friday night the preliminary trial of James Campbell was concluded, and instead of being set at liberty for the killing of Kenis Wallingford, as everybody expected, he was bound over to a higher court without bail. It developed at the trial that Wallingford did not have a revolver in his hand when he came to Campbell's home, but that the revolver was in his pocket, for the handle of the revolver was shot off by part of the charge of shot that entered his abdomen. Campbell was so free from remorse that he led Squire Walther to believe that he wanted to kill Wallingford and embraced that opportunity. Excitement ran high, and the feeling is against Squire Walther for his decision, but in an interview with him he told your reporter that in rendering his decision the sentiment of the people affected him not, and that it was clearly, according to the evidence and general appearance, a deliberate murder. Campbell is a near relative of ex-Governor Campbell."

THE RIVER AND RAIL.

Items of Interest Pertaining to the Happenings on These Two Great Highways.

Soon the leading exporters of Cincinnati will be invited to make an excursion over the C. and O. to Newport News to greet the "Rappahannock" on her arrival in America.

The towboat Henry Debus, owned at Cincinnati has lately been fitted out with an entire new hull at Point Pleasant, together with general repairs, and will be out for duty on the present rise.

All of the Kanawha towboats are now on their way to the headwater mines, and will come out at once with good sized tows which will be taken to the lower markets as rapidly as possible.

There are now about 28,000,000 bushels of coal at Pittsburgh ready to come out on the first rise. The expected run will let out only the lightest barges which means only a few hundred thousand bushels.

The C. and O. has at last secured grounds in Cincinnati for a coal yard. They have long been trying to do this but did not succeed until recently. An elevator with a capacity of 300 car loads a day will be put in.

It is said that the C. H. and D. does not contemplate reducing anyone's salary, but have simply reduced the working hours in the shops from ten to nine, because they have not sufficient work to keep the men employed ten hours, and think it a much better policy to reduce the hours of labor rather than cut off one-tenth of the force.

A special from Parkersburg says: "Grass is growing in the bed of the Ohio river on the West Virginia side of Blennerhassett Island, a thing never known before. The river bed in many places is being used for driving, it being level and free from dust. Except for a narrow channel, it is possible to cross the Ohio dry shod at many places between here and Wheeling."

Despite the great amount of talking that has been done this season about the lowness of the Ohio river, it is an undeniable fact that at no time was the low-water mark of 1881 reached by at least a foot. The summer of 1881 saw the stream lower than it had been for forty years, and it remained in that condition an entire summer. The water was way down this season beyond doubt, but there have been boats in the different trades all the time, and navigation, though most amazingly hampered, has never been entirely suspended.—Ashland Daily News.

There is now a growing possibility that the coming coal barge will be made of steel. At least W. H. Brown & Son, the leading Pittsburgh coal men have spent considerable time, labor and money in an effort to perfect a lighter of this kind with very satisfactory results. The barge as now completed is a novel success and will be put in use on the first coal run from Pittsburgh as an experiment, while if the outcome is satisfactory the building of a large number on the same plan will soon follow not only by them but other companies as well.—Exchange.

A report says there is not the least truth in the rumored strike on the Big Four. An employee who was interviewed recently said he had not heard the least talk of a strike among any of the men. The equalization proposed by President Ingalls will put all the men in the various branches of the service in the entire system on one equality. On the Cairo division it will increase salaries and this will also be the case on a few of the other divisions. But even when it cuts the salaries it only averages about 4 per cent.

Off For Indianapolis.

The following persons left this morning for Indianapolis to be present at the G. A. R. Encampment: George Crawford, George Clinger, J. H. Nail Mills Resuming.

Two of the largest industries at Iron-ton, O., will resume operations next week. Both Belfont and Kelly Iron and Nail Company will start next Monday in the manufacture of iron nails. Steel nails have been largely manufactured in the past, but the present condition of the market makes the production of iron nails more profitable.

Both concerns are fairly supplied with orders, and the indications are good for the fall trade. Directly and indirectly these mills employ about 1,200 or 1,500 men, and the prospects for steady work makes the merchants brighter than they have been for months. The Eagle Rolling Mill is also in operation, while minor industries are generally in operation. The mills and furnaces at Ashland are running also, and all in all, this part of the Ohio Valley seems to have said farewell to dull days.

Fire at Shannon.

Mr. Lem Browning's residence at Shannon was entirely destroyed by fire last night. The building was a two-story frame. Some of the household furniture was saved. There was $600 insurance in the Home, of New York, J. Lud Browning, agent.
